Natural pesticide recipes Natural pesticides are a cheap and safer alternative to products bought in a store. Unfortunately, these recipes are being lost as advertising to use modern chemicals increases.

Natural pesticide recipes - World Agroforestry Centre

The biological activity spectrum of natural pesticides is extremely variable, and the selectivity is often achieved by targeted application, often relying on the behavior of the target pest. However, the biological property of a chemical is a function of its structure rather than its origin. The biological activity exerted by a given dose of the compound under given circumstances, especially ...
